

Parvo Pups

Felix

Helios

Lacey

Lucas

Selene

You can not save them all.

It was foolish to think that Felix would even have a chance.

I held him in my hands, cradled under my chin. If love could give him the strength he needed to survive, he'd still be here. But it wasn't enough.

Helios seemed so much stronger. But he was sick too and stopped eating.

Three days later he was gone.

Then Lacey. So smart. But she would only last another week.

Lucas and Selene were the strongest. But their condition was unstable.

If they could hold on for a while longer, they might pull through. And they did!

They slowly recovered from the virus that had taken their brothers and sister.

I miss them all, but Lucas and Selene are in loving homes now.

And they will live a healthy and happy life that might never have been.

Sue Hansen

Sue Hansen

RSVP foster volunteer